WELCOME

A very warm welcome to some more newcomers to our village:- to Sue and Adrian who have moved in to Poachers Close and to Anna Nelson who has moved in to Silverleys Green. We hope they will all be happy with us here in the village.

FOR SALE

Kitchen table and 4 chairs

Table top 120cm x 75cm (including 2 x 23cm drop leaves / 1 each end)

4 chairs seat height 45cm

Rubber Wood from Heal's of London – similar to pine, very light/blond wood, 4 years old, hardly used, as new condition £50.00

Andy/Richard – Poachers Farm, Bell Green, 01986 798346 (eves only)

Please note amended telephone number in the above ad.

Apologies, firstly to Andy and Richard, then to anyone who tried in vain to get hold of Andy or Richard and who may have met with a somewhat confused householder who did not want to part with their dining suite at any cost, let alone the bargain price of £50.00, also to said householder who may have been rather perturbed/annoyed to receive such calls.
Sue (Ed.)

FRAM BROADBAND

We have been with Fram Broadband for 6 months on the lowest tier, approx 5Mbps. Today (9th September) we have 5.1 download and 4.6 upload speeds.

We found Fram Broadband very helpful to deal with. They advise by e-mail of the date and times of any planned maintenance. On the very rare occasions there has been a reduced service an explanatory e-mail arrives advising what the problem was and how it was resolved.

We have been satisfied with the service and what it provides; we can rely on our internet for banking and e-mails. We can watch Smart TV catch-up programmes without continual buffering, BBC Radio iPlayer works fine. For us this is all a vast improvement on the situation we were in with BT.

Suffolk Churches Ride and Stride

Many Cratfield residents will now know that if they go to the pop-up pub at the beginning of September they might get approached by a man (luckily not in Lycra) asking for sponsorship of the Suffolk Churches Ride and Stride. This takes place every year on the second Saturday in September and most Suffolk Churches are open for visitors on bike and foot. Funds raised go to support the upkeep of the churches. I have done this since 2004 and have so far visited 185 of the nearly 600 open churches in the county. I try to find a different route every year but always ending in the Low House in Laxfield! This year: Newmarket to Cratfield. If you cycle directly it is about 45 miles. When you add in all church detours it's about 70 miles. Then it's worth taking some time to look at the churches and chat a bit with the people there, so it takes the whole day. Starting 6.45 from home in London, the 7.15 to Cambridge was cancelled so arrived 30 mins later than planned, but a light trailing wind made an easy ride to Newmarket (15 miles) where I mingled with the racehorses hacking through the town. It's surprisingly hilly around Newmarket but after that Suffolk is pretty flat and I managed to get in 31 Churches before the 5pm deadline. My would-be companion did his back in, so I did it on my own. This is fine when the churches have people to welcome you, but a bit gloomy when there is nobody there and they just leave you a form to sign and a bottle of squash. But generally there is a jolly welcome at every stop. And I did meet a companion cyclist around Thorndon: nice to have company as we tried to outrun the black rain clouds at the end of the day. Highlights: Wonderfully preserved High Victorian church of St Agnes, Newmarket, Sheela-na-gig (fertility stone) in Moulton, Flempton stained glass, West Stow cake, manicured lawns of Culford, full 'lordship' at Ampton, Great Livermere thatch, mediaeval wall paintings at Troston, Grand interior of Waltham-le-Willows, old details at Westhorpe, asymmetrical Gislingham with its 'crazy paving' stained glass, the wild churchyard at Thornham, best cake at Wickham Skeith, simplicity of Redlingfield, welcome at Wilby and a small welcoming party at the Low House: was it because I was wearing lycra?

Thank you to all who supported. Around £200 raised to support St Mary's at Cratfield and other Suffolk Churches. Thanks also to all those who give up their time to sign in the cyclists: it is very much appreciated (especially the cake!).

WHO LIVED IN YOUR HOUSE?

Where in Laxfield are your ancestors buried? What happened in Laxfield in the past?

Have you traced any of your family in Laxfield?

What was the population of Laxfield in 1841 – was it bigger or smaller than today?

On Friday 6th October Laxfield Museum is holding its annual end-of-season event in the Village Hall from 7.30 to 9.00pm. We will be showing our collection of old house deeds, wills, maps, church grave plans and names, family trees, Parish records, history and architecture of the Guildhall and much more.

Come and trace all these things from our huge collection of documents – you'll be surprised what you can find out! There's a bar too, nibbles and our popular raffle. You can also have a sneak preview of the Photographic Exhibition which is on Saturday 7th October (Market day) when we shall be holding another popular Photo Exhibition.

We shall have a number of laptop computers, with our photographic collection displayed on them, over which you can reminisce to your heart's content, scenes of old Laxfield, village weddings and people, shops, houses, pubs, events, and, if you would like copies of anything, we can provide them on the spot, for a small fee.

This will be a good opportunity for those who find the Museum stairs a challenge to see what we have.

There will be goods for sale, tea and cake, - stop and chat with friend and neighbours.

Entrance to both events is FREE, as always, but donation would be much appreciated.

CONCERT TEAS SUMMER2017

With another season of serving teas in the Church during the Concert Interval over, it is necessary firstly to thank all those involved whether you made a cake or two or served the audience at a concert your help is much appreciated as all the monies taken go toward the upkeep of the village church. The total this year was just short of £1,500 a magnificent sum. Finally, I understand that some of the newer residents in the village are asking who I am. Just to let you know that for 27 years my husband and I lived at West Hinder in Manse Lane and loved our time there, but my mobility issues caused us to down size. I have been involved with the church and village hall during that time and when asked to arrange the teas for the concerts some 10 years ago I am still able to do so from my armchair. So thank you if you are someone whom I have not met, for your help and support.

Summer Term 2017 Report – All Saints Primary School

I am writing this report as we prepare for the new school year. Work is being completed to ready our fifth classroom along with its outdoor learning space and a group learning room is being created by removing the wall between two smaller rooms. We will begin the year with 106 pupils on roll. Rather than numbering our classes this year, we have named them after birds, so we have Wren, Robin, Kingfisher, Owl and Eagle classes. It is easy to remember the order as the youngest pupils have the smallest bird and the birds increase in size with the age of the pupils.

In addition to welcoming 20 new reception pupils, we also welcome two new class teachers; Miss Mutton (year 1) and Mr Millican (year 3/4) along with Mr Brett, who is going to be teaching at both Laxfield and Stradbroke across all the classes. We had to say goodbye to Mrs Morgan, who has moved to Northamptonshire – we will miss her a great deal and wish her all the best.

Our Arts week, in June, was all about animals and included a whole school educational visit to Banham Zoo. The weather was good to us and the pupils all had a handling session matched to their Science learning. My class (year 1 and 2) handled a land snail, a snake, a millipede and a tarantula exoskeleton and learnt about habitats, diet, adaptation, offspring and growth. We loved seeing all the animals, including feeding time for the penguins, otters and giraffes.

The Key Stage 2 performance of Mystery at Magpie Manor was very well received with some fabulous acting, singing and dancing (including the Charleston). The pupils chose the Pancreatic Cancer charity to benefit from the collections at the performances.

After entertaining us in the play, our year 6s headed off to Hollowford in Derbyshire for their residential, along with Miss Havers and Mr Hepburn. The pupils were wearing their bright red Leavers Hoodies, which were given to them by the Friends of All Saints. It was a great learning experience, including getting rather wet at times (whilst raft building) and being confident to attempt the 'leap of faith' (a jump at height - whilst wearing a harness for safety I will add).

All the classes enjoyed swimming in the school pool this term, although we lost two weeks because the water quality was not acceptable at the first test, so needed to be rectified and re-tested. In view of this, we are going to take the pupils to Stradbroke swimming pool for six swimming sessions each class in this academic year. This will also allow deeper water skills to be taught where appropriate.

We are glad to report that the key stage 2 SATS results were excellent. In both reading and mathematics we had 100% success at reaching the required standard and in writing we scored 89%. We are very proud of our pupils, as, I am sure, are their parents and carers.

VILLAGE HALL NEWS

100 Club Winners September

1st Tim Ackerley No. 52 - £15.00

2nd Helen Siddle No. 32 - £10.00

3rd Sue Ackerly No. 47 - £5.00

Congratulations to the winners.

(That's Sue and Tim out on the razzle then!)

Our next pop-up-pub at the Village Hall is Friday October 6th, with as usual, a bar and hot food to ward off the darkening nights. All welcome. Remember it's the photo exhibition and social evening on Saturday October 14th with a cut-off date for getting your photos in by Friday 6th October. This is a lovely evening when we get to see all the dozens of fascinating interpretations of this year's subjects; Suffolk wildlife, nooks and crannies and reflections. We can't accept photos after the cut-off date as listing then by title and mounting them takes considerable time, so please make sure you deliver them by then. Your entry form is included in this issue. If you need more than one form you are welcome to photocopy or call me on 798790 for extras. Anyone may enter – Cratfield resident or further afield – as long as they stick to the category titles. All details are on the entry form.

Two festive dates for your diary:

Saturday December 9th is our pre-Christmas fair and social event. Starting at 10.00am until 3pm, come and drink mulled wine, have a bacon butty, catch up with friends and browse the stalls for festive gifts. Father Christmas will be dropping in for the very young, and his arrival will be posted in next month's magazine. Mums and Dads, it would be very useful to know if your little ones are coming to meet him as he wishes to know how many presents to bring. Craft/produce stalls are available to hire, £10.00 for the day, with preference given to local sellers. Any profits from the day will be split between the village hall, our church fabric fund and a local 'Crisis at Christmas' charity.

Following last year's heaving New Year's Eve do, we are having a repeat 'Eight till Late', with disco and hearty hot food. Bring your own booze and be prepared to shake booties, legs or whatever to welcome in the New Year. Free entry, all welcome. Donations are invited in aid of the Air Ambulance. Last year we raised a sizeable sum for the charity.

I reveal all about some of the meatiest rolls in my show career

In 1982, according to The Archers: The Ambridge Chronicles, Walter Gabriel had been secretly injecting the marrow he was entering for the Annual Produce Show with sugar and water to increase its size. It became huge but the fermenting sugar rotted the inside, causing a gas build up. Tom Forest gave it a prod and it burst with a sound, as the script said, of a 'soft explosion, as of someone throwing up into a bowl of rice krispies.' Walter Gabriel was suitably crestfallen.

The village show can be the stuff of drama as this eloquently shows. The battles, the rivalry, the secretly, the skulduggery.

A relative called Bill Barrett, a meat boner in a slaughterhouse, grew prize vegetables for the village show each year. The length and thickness of his carrots was the stuff of legend and predictably ribald remarks. I laughed along with everyone else but was a little in awe of anyone who accomplished such a grown-up achievement as winning a prize in a produce show.

When we heard there was to be a Horticultural/Produce Show in Cratfield this August we were thrilled to be able participate in an event so idyllically rural. My wife is a gardener – so she could enter her garden produce and her jam. What could I do? Scanning the categories I spotted the men only cookery section. Sausage rolls or pickled onions. I settled on the sausage rolls. I was not really a fan of the sausage roll – I had long ago banished those stodgy, soggy and tasteless tubes of greasy pastry to a culinary limbo along with tins of cling peaches and evaporated milk. But, for the sake of glory, I steeled myself to bite the sausage roll bullet.

The first thing I did was to Google the finest sausage roll recipes known to the human race. I found one that could not fail to win.

And I practised. After years of living without that meat product I found myself cooking three batches of 25 sausage rolls the week of the show. The third batch, cooked on the morning of the show, was the one I entered. By that time, I felt had got the seasoning on my meat just right - though my pastry was slightly less perfect than the crunchy coating of crispy gold the recipe promised.

The morning of the show I was keyed up, stressed. Nervous as stallion before a big race. Hands almost shaking with anticipation I arranged my somewhat unevenly sized morsels on their plate and placed them alongside the other men's meaty offerings. Could I detect the slight whiff of testosterone hovering over to the sausage roll display?

In the end, I won third prize – out of four entries. But I had loved taking part and the show was a delight. There were so many entries in so many categories. Lots of people came. A great achievement for a little village like Cratfield. I will certainly take part again.

If you will excuse the pun - roll on next year!

Nigel Cousins

In case you missed this last month, it was tucked away and in rather small print.

CHURCH TREES

Most of you will recall that Hurricane Doris, on 23rd February, brought down one of the four large horse chestnuts in front of the church.

Fortunately it was the one furthest from the church and so caused no damage to the building.

However, as all the trees are the same age and the victim was found to be rotting from the centre, it was a warning call; were one of the others to come down the damage to the church would be considerable.

We propose, therefore, to pollard the three remaining trees, reducing their height by about two thirds, and hope they will survive. Depending on the condition they are found to be in it is possible that they may have to come down altogether, but we feel it is at least worth giving them a chance.

If you have a view on this do let one of us on the PCC know; all comments from the village will be taken seriously.

Laxfield Produce, Craft and Flea Market
Saturday 7th October 10am -12.30pm
inside All Saint's Church,
inside the Royal Oak, and outside on Church Plain

A week into October and it's the much enjoyed Laxfield Market on Saturday 7th. Last month several new visitors were bowled over by the array of individual goods on offer and the welcoming atmosphere, vowing to return very soon.

Along with the usual favourite stalls, this month we welcome back Martin with his lovely selection of sour dough breads. Other edibles include delicious home-made fudge, free-range eggs and pork, cakes and savouries and goat's cheeses. Tasty items can all be ordered in advance for a special occasion (or that festive season creeping up on us!) Why not get ahead of these events and fill up your freezer with really good, natural, additive-free, tasty goodies?

A new stall this month is Christine's glass, she creates lovely stained glass pieces. There will also be children's clothing, crafts, painted china, plants, vintage stalls, collectibles, among others.

Entertainment will be provided by the Market's very own Eileen Tinney. You will normally find her at the Tropic cosmetic and skin care stand, but she hopes the weather will be fine enough for music to be set up, when she will shimmy out from behind her stall onto Church Plain, and leap into a demonstration of her lively Zumba dancing. Eileen teaches Zumba around the area, and if you haven't yet seen her in action, you have a treat in store.

As usual, visitors will find stalls set out inside the Church, inside the Royal Oak and outside on Church Plain so make sure to see all three areas.

Tea, coffee and cake will be available inside the Church, and The Royal Oak will be offering breakfasts, bacon rolls, liquid refreshment, and lunches.

Please contact Catherine Cawood on 01986 798852 for info on pitch spaces.

October 2017

Dear Friends,

In the Celtic Christian tradition, we have a prayer for the start of each day which goes;

“Lord, help us to see you in all we meet today; Lord, help us to be you in all we meet today”.

This can at times be challenging. The essential elements of both aspects, seeing God and being God, meet in one simple function and that is listening. God always listens though we can be forgiven for sometimes thinking that our words are not heard, so to be God to others, we must first listen. Similarly, if God is to speak to us through someone else, then similarly, firstly we must listen.

Simple? Not really, listening can take a great deal of effort and sacrifice. How often do you find yourself listening with your eyes, but you are planning what you are going to say next, and not really taking in what is being said? I often catch myself doing this. What is happening when we do this, is we are saying 'I have no interest in what you are saying, but what I am planning on saying is much more interesting'.

When Lynne and I trained as bereavement visitors, we were given a copy of this symbol:

It is the Japanese word for 'listen'. As with many Japanese words it is made up of others; in this case, its constituent parts are: undivided attention, eyes, ears and heart. That is, we should give our undivided attention and use our eyes, our ears and our heart. Our tutor wrote underneath the symbol: there is no mouth. Simply, listening does not need a mouth. Another piece of Western philosophy goes: we have two eyes, two ears, and one mouth, and we should use them in that ratio.

Sometimes people say to me that they don't know how to deal with someone who is bereaved. The best thing to do is just listen. Listening is the most important aspect of our relationship with others; when you are listening, you are showing that you value the other person and taking an interest in them. Just as God does.

With my prayers and best wishes,

Ron
